12th edition

Valuing consumer action

16/17 April 2024, Amsterdam

23 August 2023

We look forward to meeting you at the REC Market Meeting 2024

The organising committee of the REC Market Meeting is pleased to announce that the 12th edition of the REC Market Meeting will take place at the Beurs van Berlage in Amsterdam in the Netherlands on 16 & 17 April 2024. On 15 April there will be pre-conference sessions and get-together drinks.

Every year we have welcomed more delegates than in previous years, and in 2022 and 2023 the conference was completely sold out as we welcomed over 550 delegates.

For this 12th edition, we move to a bigger conference venue and we expect another strong year as governments, and the public they serve, are paying increased attention to how renewable energy is bought and sold, and what value these markets bring.

Sponsoring the REC Market Meeting

Organising the REC Market Meeting involves the work of many companies and organizations. It is thanks to them that we are able to offer such a comprehensive conference; we are very grateful for the contribution of our sponsors.

If you would like to sponsor the 2024 event, the sponsor package is available, and the allocation process starts on Tuesday 5 September 12.00 CET (noon). Please note that sponsorship packages are green on a first-come, first-served basis. If you are interested in becoming a sponsor, please contact the RECS secretariat for sponsorship opportunities and procedures at secretariat@reccs.org.

The REC Market Meeting programme ‘Valuing consumer action’

The theme of the REC Market Meeting 2024 is "Valuing consumer demand." This year's conference offers a varied programme for veterans as well as those new to renewables markets and will take place in a world where renewable energy markets are under more scrutiny than ever before. We are seeing the introduction of new regulations on corporate reporting of energy use, the development and revision of international standards related to energy attribute certificates, and continued high prices for European GOs. These trends are resulting in growing scrutiny on how renewable energy markets function, and the value they bring.

Given the success of previous years, the REC Market Meeting will again run a programme with three parallel streams. Each session will highlight different ways of valuing consumer action and markets in the transition to 100% renewable energy. The streams will collectively cover topics that cater to the interests of more delegates from more countries than ever before. They will have an opportunity to hear from actors across the Energy Attribute Certificate (EAC) value chain, including regulators, system operators, producers, traders, buyers, and end-users.

Track A: Europe in focus:

Focusing on key European topics, these sessions will cover recent market, legislative, and system developments at both national and European levels.

Track B: Global markets and initiatives:

Providing information and insights into renewables markets around the world, these sessions will explore key national and international developments in detail.

Track C: EACs in practice:

Designed to be particularly informative for those new to renewables markets, these sessions will allow delegates to understand essential aspects of energy attribute certificates and ask the questions to which they need answers.

Registration open soon

Registration for the REC Market Meeting 2024 will be possible as of September 2023.

Your fellow REC Market Meeting 2024 delegates

At the 2023 REC Market Meeting, there was a record number of delegates, with 550 people attending from 41 countries. The audience at the REC Market Meeting 2024 will be even bigger, with a new venue that can hold up to 700 people. The professional profiles that we expect to welcome again next year include:

- Energy consumers - large, medium, and small
- Energy producers
- Energy traders
- Energy suppliers
- Energy brokers
- Regulators
- Legislators and policymakers
- Grid operators

- Environmental NGOs
- Consumer associations and energy associations

Your REC Market Meeting 2024 hosts

The REC Market Meeting is the headline annual event of the RECS Energy Certificate Association (formerly RECS International), and it allows us, in collaboration with our sponsors, members, and partners to promote the renewable energy markets that RECS supports around the world. At the RMM, as in all our work, we support market participants by providing the knowledge and information they need to boost consumer demand for renewable energy. RECS works to provide the knowledge, motivation, and confidence needed to buy 100% renewable energy.

The conference allows us to further our goal of maintaining and creating open and transparent demand-driven renewable energy markets, facilitated by commonly accepted and harmonized tracking systems. The RMM is a focal point of RECS' engagement with legislators, policy-makers, regulators, and system operators. It provides a substantial platform from which all participants (sponsors included) can make the case that effective renewable energy markets do help to accelerate the energy transition, thereby making an important contribution to tackling climate change.
